Criminal Law Review (Sweet & Maxwell)	Journal and ProView	Criminal Law	2025 will see a continuation of academic and practitioner-oriented articles, with academic articles longer than previously to allow more leading research to be published in the Criminal Law Review. Amongst other topics, there will be an examination of the legislation that the new Labour Government lays before Parliament, and the changes in criminal justice policy following the general election. The specialist team will continue to offer commentary on current cases.
Criminal Law Week (Sweet & Maxwell)	Journal	Criminal Law	Recent coverage includes all legislation of interest to criminal practitioners, highlights being the Victims and Prisoners Act 2024, the Post Office (Horizon System) Offences Act 2024, both of which include expert commentary, and the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Requisite and Minimum Custodial Periods) Order 2024, changing the point at which certain prisoners serving fixed-term sentences are to be released on licence, as well as amendments to the Criminal Procedure Rules 2020, also reflected in Criminal Law Week's fully annotated Statutes Service. All crime-related case law of importance, with some expert commentary, has been covered, including Nealon and Hallam v UK in which the Grand Chamber of the Strasbourg court authoritatively ruled in relation to compensation for miscarriages of justice, two important Supreme Court extradition decisions clarifying the law on convictions in absentia, cases concerning the right to protest (see Att.-Gen.'s Reference (No. 1 of 2023), HM Solicitor General v Warner and R. (National Council for Civil Liberties (Liberty)) v Secretary of State for the Home ) and on the non-attendance of prosecution counsel in the context of the acute shortage of advocates to conduct criminal work (see R. v Ng ; R. v O'Reilly ), and the recent case of Cobban and another v DPP concerning appeals by police officers against convictions related to racist, misogynistic, homophobic and disablist messages they sent in a private WhatsApp group. Criminal Law Week's bi-annual supplement is another highlight. Digests on other items such as miscellaneous amendments to sentencing guidelines and updated versions of the Attorney General's Guidelines on Disclosure, Crown Court Compendium, King's Bench Guide, Youth Court Bench Book and Equal Treatment Bench Book are also included.
Cross on Local Government Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	CBR and ProView	Local Government	New material for 2025 will include the following: coverage of implementation or continued implementation of the Procurement Act 2023 and the Levelling-up and Regeneration Act 2023; fully revised chapters on such topics as Education, Housing and Highways; and coverage of new cases on local government legislation, judicial review, the Human Rights Act 1998 and the law of tort. The King's Speech following the election of the Labour Government includes provision for a Better Buses Bill, a Children's Wellbeing Bill, a Crime and Policing Bill, an English Devolution Bill, a Mental Health Bill, a Planning and Infrastructure Bill, and a Water (Special Measures) Bill. For Wales, there will be coverage of the Social Partnership and Public Procurement (Wales) Act 2023. Bills before the Senedd in 2023-24 include a Local Government Finance Bill to reform the council tax and non-domestic rates systems, an Elections and Elected Bodies (Wales) Bill requiring all Electoral Registration Officers to automatically register eligible electors for the local government register, reforming the processes for conducting community and electoral reviews, and abolishing the Independent Remuneration Panel for Wales, their remuneration functions passing to the Democracy and Boundary Commission Cymru, and a Health and Social Care (Wales) Bill eliminating profit from the care of looked after children. There are also plans for a Better Buses Bill. There will be coverage of Bills when enacted.
Current Sentencing Practice (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Criminal Law	Forthcoming updates will keep readers abreast of the latest changes to sentencing legislation and the latest cases from the Divisional Court and Court of Appeal (Criminal Division). Upcoming releases will include amendments to legislation regarding release provisions, mandatory aggravating factors, changes to Sch.21 regarding the sentencing of murder and changes to the dangerousness regime.
Data Protection Laws of the World (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Data Protection	Forthcoming releases will include country updates for Belgium, Brazil, Chile, Cyprus, Finland, Greece, Guernsey, Hong Kong, Hungary, Ireland, Israel, Latvia, Romania and Turkey.

The Legislation divisions will be updated with the texts of all relevant Regulations, Directives etc
Emmet and Farrand on Title (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Conveyancing	The new Government has committed to momentous changes in residential leases that will affect day-to-day transactions and impact the whole rental sector. Fast implementation of the Leasehold and Freehold Reform Act 2024 is promised, and also a new Leasehold and Commonhold Reform Bill, which may or may not track the previous government's old bill, but which can be expected to include: restrictions on the grant of new long residential leases, changes to leasehold enfranchisements, rights to manage and other measures intended to make a newly revamped commonhold the default tenure. Increased restrictions on forfeiture of all residential leases and tenancies are also to be expected. All these will mean major legal changes for landlords and tenants, and Emmet & Farrand on Title will be keeping readers abreast of all developments. Emmet & Farrand on Title will continue to be a regularly-updated resource on the rapidly emerging case law on the Building Safety Act, building on the detailed analysis of the new regime already done in this area. Lawyers will need to take action on the new guidance on upfront disclosure in conveyancing and the complex pending changes in planning law and guidance to implement grey-belt development and other new housebuilding incentives. Emmet & Farrand on Title will have all the analysis and insight on these crucial new changes.
Employee Share Schemes (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Tax	Upcoming releases for 2024/25 will include the re-writing of various sections with clearer explanations and addition of technical points or commentary on HMRC practices which have been highlighted by instructions received or discussions in the Share Plan Lawyers and other groups of practitioners.
Employment Tribunal Practice in Scotland (W. Green)	CBR and ProView	Employment	2025 is expected to be a significant year for developments in employment law and practice. In the most recent King's Speech an Employment Rights Bill was promised within the first 100 days of the new Labour Government coming to power, which is mid-October 2024, with extensive proposals for widespread change. There was also a commitment to an Equality (Race and Disability) Bill to extend the principle of equal pay to those protected characteristics. Coverage will be given to the change with the greatest impact from the proposals - amendments to the right not to be unfairly dismissed. Other statutory changes include that the Neonatal Care (Leave and Pay) Act 2023 is expected to come into force in April 2025. There are a number of cases due to be heard in the Court of Appeal, including Moustache v Chelsea and Westminster NHS Trust on the extent to which a Tribunal may, or must, assist a party litigant to pursue a claim not pled or within a list of issues, and at the Inner House including Phillips v Working Partners on worker status.
Encyclopedia of Compulsory Purchase and Compensation (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Planning and Environment	Forthcoming coverage will include monitoring of all legislative changes following on from the new government's indication that there are likely to be significant developments in this area, and from the Law Commission investigation. It will also include all interesting developments resulting from the Upper Tribunal's full diary of compensation cases, particularly those relating to HS2. The review of the commentary on all the main sections of the 1961 and 1965 Acts relating to valuation will continue.

Encyclopedia of Consumer Credit Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Banking and Financial Services	It was the 50th anniversary of the Consumer Credit Act 1974 in 2024 and the Encyclopedia of Consumer Credit Law itself in 2025. Forthcoming coverage in 2025 will include updates relating to the overhaul of the Consumer Credit regime by HMT and FCA; coverage of the implications of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2023 and its impact on EU-derived legislation and EU case law and relevant case law.
Encyclopedia of Data Protection and Privacy (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Data Protection	Forthcoming coverage will include updates to data protection principles and territorial scope. The chapter on UK and EU GDPR definitions is also being updated to reflect new guidance that has been issued by the Information Commissioner's Office.
Encyclopedia of Environmental Health Law and Practice (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Planning and Environment	Forthcoming releases will monitor relevant developments in the new government's English Devolution Bill, Water (Special Measures) Bill, and Tobacco and Vapes Bill. Existing legislation will be kept under review, particularly in relation to phased implementation, including the use of fixed penalty receipts and the separation of waste, both being developed under the Environmental Protection Act 1990. The commencement of provisions will be monitored, especially in relation to the Environment Act 2021, the Building Safety Act 2022, and the Environmental Protection (Single-use Plastic Products) (Wales) Act. There will be continuing interest in the development of Dangerous Dogs legislation regarding responsibility for dog attacks and exemption schemes.
Encyclopedia of Environmental Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Planning and Environment	Forthcoming coverage will include updated commentary on International Conventions; recent judicial decisions relevant to the scope of international environmental law; progress of key legislative proposals, including the Water (Special Measures) Bill regarding water quality and regulation, and the Great British Energy Bill establishing a publicly-owned clean energy company. Case coverage will include the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions requiring assessment of "downstream" greenhouse gas emissions as part of EIA assessments, and finding that the Water Industry Act 1991 does not prevent the bringing of claims in nuisance or trespass regarding pollution from sewerage outfalls even in the absence of negligence or deliberate misconduct.
Encyclopedia of Financial Services Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Banking and Financial Services	Forthcoming coverage in 2025 includes new commentary on the Economic Crime and Corporate Transparency Act 2023 and updated commentary on the key changes brought about by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2023, including the Designated Activities Regime. There will be new commentary on financial promotion regulation. Also included will be coverage of the Short Selling Regulations 2024, if the new Government chooses to continue with this legislation.
Encyclopedia of Housing Law and Practice (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Local Government	Coverage of new legislation will include the Leasehold and Freehold Reform Act 2024 - service charges in long leases, freehold rentcharges, enfranchisement and right to manage; Social Housing (Regulation) Act 2023; Renters Rights Bill - ending no-fault evictions, expanding grounds for possession, and making assured tenancies periodic from the outset. Case law coverage will include a Supreme Court decision on the Soneji principle in property law, and Court of Appeal decisions concerning the Tenant Fees Act 2019; powers of FTT to award costs against a person who engages in unreasonable behaviour; estoppel in right to manage; and the Building Safety Act 2022.
Encyclopedia of Information Technology Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	IT, Media and Telecoms	In 2025, updates will contextualise and summarise the UK's plans for Artificial Intelligence (AI) regulation, including a contextual, sector-based regulatory framework. The regulation will address issues that could harm public trust in AI, such as data-driven or algorithmic social scoring, biometric identification, and the use of AI systems in law enforcement, education, and employment. Regulation will need to ensure that AI systems are trustworthy, AI risks are mitigated, and those developing, implementing, and using AI technologies can be held accountable. Updates will also be provided on the Data Protection and Digital Information Bill, which will establish a post-Brexit UK data protection law regime that diverges significantly from the EU GDPR. The Bill extends beyond data protection to an assortment of areas related to digital information, including the governance of AI in the UK. Updates on reform to cybersecurity legislation and regulation, as well as the Online Safety Bill, will also be provided.
Encyclopedia of Insurance Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Insurance	Recent releases have included case summaries of Allianz Insurance Plc v University of Exeter and Quadra Commodities SA v XL Insurance Co SE as well as extensive updates to the section on The Motor Insurers' Bureau.

Professional Negligence and Liability Reports (Sweet & Maxwell)	Law Reports and ProView	Personal Injury	The Professional Negligence and Liability Reports continue to build on a tried and tested formula: giving fast access to the cases that matter, expertly and succinctly headnoted. The cases selected come from all the UK jurisdictions, from Ireland and where relevant from elsewhere; they are not limited to ordinary professional negligence, but cover all the potential liabilities faced by non-medical professionals. One of the most successful series of specialist law reports, the editorial board looks forward to serving the profession even better in 2025.
Public Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Journal and ProView	Public and Administrative Law	Upcoming coverage will include a groundbreaking set of analysis papers on the theme of 'Race and Public Law'. Longer articles scheduled for release in 2025 will encompass constitutional law and practice, including pieces on parliamentary sovereignty and the Supreme Court's devolution jurisprudence; constitutional history, including a piece on the history of the War prerogative; administrative law, including the first systematic review of the operation of s.31(2(A) of the Senior Courts Act 1981; and human rights, including a piece on the limits of criticism of public figures under Art.10 ECHR. A particular highlight will be the text of Professor Meg Russell's 2024 Public Law lecture, entitled 'Should We Be Concerned About the Decline of Parliamentary Scrutiny?'
Public Procurement Law and Practice (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Public Procurement	The Procurement Act 2023 will make very substantial changes to the public procurement regime in the UK when it comes into force, which is currently expected to happen in late October 2024. The second release of 2024 will comprise a transitional update regarding the move towards the new procurement regime, pending the total restructuring and rewriting of the work in early 2025.
Public Procurement Law Review (Sweet & Maxwell)	Journal and ProView	Public Procurement	Expected coverage in 2025 includes special Issues on contemporary themes in the context of international trade; articles on the full range of EU law and EU Member State domestic legal issues; articles on aspects of UK law; news and analysis on key regimes (e.g. EU, WTO GPA and UNCITRAL); ongoing reform in emerging regions (e.g. Africa, Asia, the Caribbean and South America); key EU General Court and Court of Justice cases and UK Technology & Construction Court cases; and topical sectoral developments.

Reparation: Liability for Delict (W. Green)	Looseleaf and ProView	Damages	As well as routine updating, new coverage will include: a comprehensive revision of the law on liability police, following the decision of the Supreme Court in Tindall v Thames Valley (outcome currently awaited); additional commentary on the law relating to psychiatric harm following the decision in Paul v Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust [2024] UKSC 1; a comprehensive update on the akin to employment test for vicarious liability; and additional analysis on public authority liability following the decision in HXA v Surrey CC [2023] UKSC 52.
Ruoff & Roper: Registered Conveyancing (Sweet & Maxwell)	CBR and ProView	Conveyancing	New and expanded commentary, particularly around the electronic execution of documents and the ongoing shift towards more digital and streamlined processes. Updates also to include important changes - particularly affecting leases - made by the recently enacted Leasehold and Freehold Reform Act, as well as the Leasehold and Commonhold Reform Bill when published. Discussion around the Supreme Court decision in Brown v Ridley [2024] in respect of adverse possession. Plus, expanded guidance notes and illustrative forms.
Schofield's Election Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	CBR and ProView	Local Government	Updates and commentary for 2025 will include the detailed secondary legislation for scheduled elections in May 2025 (for a number of local council and mayoral elections in England). Forthcoming releases will, following the UK general election, reflect the likely implementation of electoral law manifesto commitments of a new UK Government. The franchise, voter registration, absent voting, Voter ID and security of the poll and candidates are all topical areas where electoral laws are developing. There will also likely be changes to campaigning and political finance rules. More generally, there continues to be further legislation being implemented that will impact on electoral law in 2025, such as the National Security Act 2023 (offences relating to foreign interference in elections), the Online Safety Act 2023 (regulating online democratic content). Governments in Wales and Scotland are bringing forward legislation that make other changes to electoral law for their devolved parliamentary and local elections, impacting on, for example, the franchise, the voting system and voter registration. Also, it is expected that there will be continuing developments in case law on election matters across the UK.
Scottish Family Law Legislation (W. Green)	Looseleaf and ProView	Family and Social Welfare	Future coverage will continue to monitor the impact of legislation such as the Children (Care and Justice) (Scotland) Act 2024 and the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child Incorporation (Scotland) Act 2024 .
Scottish Human Rights Service (W. Green)	Looseleaf	Human Rights	Future updates will continue to monitor the impact of divergence from European legislation, the proposed human rights bill and amendments in the lead-up to the introduction of a new human rights framework for Scotland.
Scottish Landlord & Tenant Legislation (W. Green)	CBR and ProView	Landlord and Tenant	Updates will be made across the looseleaf as we monitor the progress of the Housing Bill and Land Reform Bill.
Scottish Planning Encyclopaedia (W. Green)	Looseleaf and ProView	Planning and Environment	Recent coverage has included the abolition of strategic development plans and the enhanced status of NPF 4, and the associated problems of the transition from the old development plans to the new. Coverage will also address the more problematic parts of the 2019 Act, Part 5, which contains the infrastructure levy provisions and were a response to the decision of the Supreme Court in Aberdeen Strategic Development Planning Authority v Elsick Development Co Ltd , 2017 SLT 1231. Further material in the pipeline includes: the Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (Scotland) Amendment Order 2024 (SSI 2024/102); Planning Circular 1/2024: Householder Permitted Development Rights; Planning Circular 2/2024: Non-domestic Permitted Development Rights; Local living and 20 minute neighbourhoods planning guidance (supporting NPF4 Policy 15); and Masterplan Consent Areas (completed consultation process in support of forthcoming regulations).
Scottish Social Work Legislation (W. Green)	Looseleaf and ProView	Social Welfare	There has been extensive change in the area of social work in Scotland and this will continue into 2025. Coverage will include effects of the Children (Care and Justice) (Scotland) Act 2024 and the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child Incorporation (Scotland) Act 2024 as provisions come into force, and ongoing impact of the legislative review under the Adult Support and Protection Improvement Plan.
Sweet & Maxwell International Sports Law Review (Sweet & Maxwell)	Journal and ProView	Sports Law	In 2025, this journal will be tracking changes across the global sporting law arena, including in the areas of licensing; doping guidance; intellectual property rights; an international survey of different sports; attitudes to Russian sportsmen/women; and sportswashing.

Sweet & Maxwell's Law of Pension Schemes (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Pensions	Releases in 2025 will consider the result, and any appeal, of the judicial review proceedings to align the basis of RPI with CPI from 2030. Also considered will be the Draft Funding and Investment Strategy and Amendment Regulations 2023 ("New Funding and Investment Strategy Regulations"). Updates will cover Completion of Dashboard Regulations; the New Funding and Investment Strategy Regulations and TPR's proposed new Code of Funding Practice which represents a significant overhaul of scheme trustees' duties; and climate change – the impact of schemes' investment policies and their reporting.
Taxation of Companies and Company Reconstructions (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Tax	2025 updates will include commentary on new tax legislation and coverage of cases that are relevant to the title.
Totty & Moss Insolvency (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Insolvency	There will be coverage in 2025 of the likely legislative amendments which the previous Government agreed to make to both the restructuring plan and the standalone moratorium which had been introduced by the Corporate Insolvency and Governance Act 2020. As well as seeing general case law updates in all areas of insolvency and restructuring practice there is likely to be continued development of the case law on restructuring plans and the liability of directors in the zone of insolvency. There will also be coverage of the likely implementation of the UNCITRAL Model Law on Recognition and Enforcement of Insolvency-Related Judgments (with Article X) and the Model Law on Enterprise Group Insolvency.
Trade Marks, Trade Names and Unfair Competition: World Law and Practice (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Banking and Financial Services	Forthcoming releases in 2025 will include coverage of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2023 and general updating throughout, including reference to relevant new cases in both the courts and the Upper Tribunal.
United Kingdom Oil & Gas Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Energy Law	The Encyclopedia will continue to track developments under the comprehensive Energy Act 2023 so far as they affect issues dealt with in the Encyclopedia. The Act relies extensively on delegated legislation to fill out its provisions, and while the new Labour Government may modify the detail of its predecessor's policies, a number of statutory instruments may be expected (either in the remainder of 2024 or in 2025), in areas such as: the new regime for the economic regulation of carbon dioxide transport and storage; provisions for public financial support of CO2 transport and storage and hydrogen transport and storage; regulation of hydrogen pipelines; gas transmission reforms in the shape of a new Independent System Operator and Planner; and new arrangements for Code management. Developments in these areas will also be covered as appropriate in our narrative chapters. Legislative proposals so far announced by the new Government bear only indirectly on upstream and midstream oil and gas issues, but narrative chapters of the Encyclopedia will consider the possible impacts on the oil and gas industry of proposed changes to planning law (Planning and Infrastructure Bill) and in the remit of the Crown Estate (Crown Estate Bill), and of the creation of Great British Energy as a publicly-owned company (though its core concern is to drive clean energy development). In view of Labour manifesto promises to 'ensure a phased and responsible transition in the North Sea that recognises . . . the ongoing role of oil and gas in our energy mix,' to 'embrace the future of energy production and storage which will make use of existing offshore infrastructure,' and not to revoke existing licences, but 'to manage our existing fields for the entirety of their lifespan,' significant legal changes to the petroleum production regime are not to be expected, though the undertakings not to grant any new licences, and to ban fracking, will be noted up along with any associated legislative change. Promised changes in oil and gas taxation will have been implemented before the end of 2024.

Water and Drainage Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Planning and Environment	Forthcoming coverage will include the Water (Special Measures) Bill, which will change companies' articles of association and introduce customer panels; the National Underground Asset Register, which is to be part of the Digital Information and Smart Data Bill; sustainable drainage approvals, to be introduced in England; Procurement Act 2023 regimes, to take effect in October 2024; a Supreme Court decision on nuisance from sewage discharges; the effect of planning reforms on infrastructure development and housing; and the effect of Thames Water's situation on water companies' licences and legislation.
Weinberg & Blank on Takeovers and Mergers (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Company and Commercial	In July 2024 the new Government committed itself to introduce a Draft Audit Reform and Corporate Governance Bill in the forthcoming session of Parliament. Key changes include replacing the Financial Reporting Council (FRC) with the Audit, Reporting and Governance Authority (ARGA) with enhanced powers; extending Public Interest Entity (PIE) status to large private companies, thus making them subject to more rigorous audit requirements; and introducing a new audit market oversight regime. The impact on material in Section 33 of any of these reforms is likely to be rather limited in scope, and otherwise, Section 33 will be kept up to date to deal with other developments which may arise during the year ahead. With respect to Part 1, the statistics in Section 1 are updated in January each year. Likewise in Part 12, with each release the list of current accounting standards and proposed changes are updated.
Woodfall: Landlord and Tenant (Sweet & Maxwell)	Looseleaf and ProView	Landlord and Tenant	The must-have title for practitioners in this field, Woodfall: Landlord and Tenant is a highly renowned and essential reference point. The work is frequently cited in court and provides practitioners with a complete and definitive coverage of residential, commercial, and agricultural landlord & tenant law.
Wurtzburg & Mills: Building Society Law (Sweet & Maxwell)	CBR and ProView	Banking and Financial Services	Forthcoming releases in 2025 will include coverage of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2023 and general updating throughout, including reference to relevant new cases in both the courts and the Upper Tribunal.
