Beck, Gunnar, The Legal Reasoning of the Court of Justice of the EU, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £65.00, ISBN: 9781849463232

The book is divided into two parts. Part one develops a new heuristic theory of legal reasoning which argues that legal uncertainty is a pervasive and inescapable feature of primary legal material and judicial reasoning alike, which has its origin in a combination of linguistic vagueness, value pluralism and rule instability associated with precedent. Part two examines the jurisprudence of the Court of Justice of the EU against this theoretical framework. The author demonstrates that the ECJ's interpretative reasoning is best understood in terms of a tripartite approach whereby the Court justifies its decisions in terms of the cumulative weight of purposive, systemic and literal arguments. That approach is more in line with orthodox legal reasoning in other legal systems than is commonly acknowledged and differs from the approach of other higher, especially constitutional courts only in degree.

This book provides a guide for the student and the beginning advocate toward understanding the theory and practice of presenting cases to judges involving issues surrounding the breakdown of families. No area of law rests so firmly on the advice and evidence of experts, and the author seeks to provide a background of the research available in each of the most contentious areas of family law. The text is enlivened by numerous examples and incorporates the collective wisdom of family jurisdiction judges, leading barristers, solicitors and expert witnesses. In addition, Practice Directions, Protocols and Guidelines governing the presentation of cases are reproduced in the Appendix.

Todd's Relationship Agreements

By Richard Todd QC and Elisabeth Todd

Sweet and Maxwell

Ltd, Hardback, ISBN

9780414023031, due April 2013, £99.00

Also, the book details precisely how to decide if an agreement was unconscionable at the date of its inception, considering duress, undue influence, mistakes, inadequate legal advice, etc. A framework is suggested for calculating fair figures to put in a pre-nuptial agreement and a methodology for determining these. Conflict of jurisdictions is looked at – the key issue behind the landmark Radmacher case. The book examines the enforceability of these agreements against third parties, e.g. estates. It details the tax considerations on entering such agreements and looks at the use of “fault” clauses in prenuptial agreements, e.g. different provisions in the case of adultery. Also included are summaries of the leading cases in this area.

Human Rights in the UK Supreme Court

By Brice Dickson

Oxford University Press, Hardback, ISBN

9780199697458, due march 2013, £70.00

How does the UK Supreme Court approach human rights law? This book presents the first comprehensive overview of the human rights jurisprudence of the Court, analysing the opinions expressed by the current Justices and their predecessors, both judicially and extra-judicially. It criticizes the judges for not developing the common law in a way which supplements the Human Rights Act, for not making imaginative enough use of that Act, and for adopting an attitude to Convention rights which is often out of step with the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg. After setting the scene by explaining the constraints which are placed on the Supreme Court Justices, the book considers how human rights are conceptualized by the Court in general and how in particular the procedural questions thrown up by the Human Rights Act have been dealt with so far. It then examines on a right-by-right basis the Justices’ position on all the Convention rights and those additional international human rights standards which have been incorporated into UK law. Focusing on the views expressed by individual judges, the book details the many differences of opinion which have come to light and characterizes the prevailing positions, before attempting to predict what stance may be adopted in future on new issues. The book offers an invaluable resource for any practitioners bringing human rights cases before the Court, and its critical arguments on the state of UK human rights law will be essential reading for all academics working in European human rights law.

Fraser Campbell

Price: £79.00
ISBN: 9780854900763
Extent: 390 pp

A clear, practical guide to the legal and compliance risks which attach to giving and receiving political donations in the UK.

The book explains what a political donation is – the scope of the relevant law is much wider than simply contributing to party funding – and who is permitted to be a donor. It looks at the requirements on companies, and when those requirements are triggered and explores the powers of the Electoral Commission. It also examines the relationship between the legislative framework affecting political donations and Parliamentary rules on the acceptance of gifts and sponsorship, and describes how the Bribery Act 2010, due to be brought into force in April 2011, will apply to political donations. A separate chapter provides an overview of relevant international instruments, of the law on political funding in the United States, and of European Union rules.

The Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000, the Electoral Administration Act 2006 and the Companies Act 2006 are all covered. The authors also examine the impact of the Political Parties and Elections Act 2009, which aims to ensure greater transparency regarding political donations and reinforce the arrangements for regulating candidate expenditure.

THE LAW OF THE MANOR

2nd Edition

Christopher Jessel

Price:	£165
ISBN:	9780854901104
Extent:	582 pp
Binding:	Hardback

The Law of the Manor is the definitive work on the subject, providing detailed, up-to-date and comprehensive coverage for lawyers and also to those owning, managing, selling or buying historic houses and estates. It provides a modern description of the law associated with lordships of the manor. Principally concerned with the lands and rights of the lord, the book also considers rights that tenants of the manor can claim against him. These are put in context with a discussion of associated topics such as franchises and titles of nobility.

The second edition has been updated to cover numerous developments in the law since 1998, in particular the Land Registration Act 2002, the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 and the Commons Act 2006. The book includes changes made by the Hunting Act 2004, the House of Lords Act 1999, and the Legal Services Act 2007 as well as the relevant case law. New material has been included on escheat, rectorial manors and roadside verges. There is also greater coverage of legal authorities especially in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and a selection of useful precedents for the practitioner. Although the book is about the law of the manor in England and Wales, there is some reference to other jurisdictions, most notably the experimental extension of the manorial system to some American colonies.

The text is arranged in five parts. Part 1 describes the context, summarises the history and analyses custom which is the basis of manorial law. Part 2 describes the lands of tenants and lords and the relations between them. Part 3 discusses rights and comprises a detailed commentary on section 62(3) of the Law of Property Act 1925. It covers rights of common, mineral and sporting rights, courts and remaining revenues. Part 4 sets the manor in the context of other institutions, namely the village, the church, towns and feudal relationships. Part 5 summarises and looks at the modern manor, its documents, conveyancing (with particular reference to registered land) and taxation, concluding with suggestions for reform.

WILDY'S HANDBOOK FOR MAGISTRATES
Third Edition

Robert J Allan and Pauline M Callow

With a Foreword by the Rt. Hon. Lord Judge,
Lord Chief Justice of England and Wales

Price:	£19.99
ISBN:	9780854901128
Extent:	256 pp
Binding:	Paperback

Wildy's Handbook for Magistrates (previously published as Blackstone's Handbook for Magistrates) is a readable and comprehensive account of the work of magistrates in England and Wales. It examines how magistrates are appointed; what they are empowered to do; how their courts are organised and operated; the kinds of matters they deal with – crimes such as theft and assault, traffic offences and issues concerning children and families; how they go about assessing evidence and deciding what to accept as true; how they decide whether defendants should be released on bail or kept in custody; the sentences they may impose and how they endeavour to make the punishment fit the crime. The book also looks at how legal aid works, a subject of continuing public and political concern. Last, but not least, it gives a flavour of what life as a magistrate is really like, touching on the pressures, responsibilities and rewards of the work.

This new edition reflects the many changes introduced over recent years. These include revisions to the procedure for applying to become a magistrate and the training requirements; the introduction of the Criminal Procedure Rules, case management and other measures to reduce delay; the landmark Courts Act 2003; amendments to the Bail Act 1976; and wholesale revision of the approach to sentencing.

The authors, one a deputy justices' clerk, the other a serving magistrate, bring two different, but equally important, areas of experience and expertise to the work and explain complicated concepts in a straightforward manner, keeping legal jargon to a minimum.

Robert J Allan, BA, Barrister, is Deputy Justices' Clerk for the North West London Local Justice Area. Pauline Callow, JP, LL.M is a magistrate in North London.

CASES, CAUSES & CONTROVERSIES

Fifty Tales from the Law

James Wilson

Price: £14.95
ISBN: 9780854901258
Extent: 256 pp
Binding: Hardback

What do Prince Charles, Bette Davis, Sir Ian Botham, Mrs Victoria Gillick and a man whose family grave appeared in the background of a splatter horror film have in common? Each of them felt they had been wronged in some way, and each went to court to try and do something about it. Sometimes their case was a purely private argument. Others brought cases of national importance, or claims which raised acute moral and ethical principles. Some won handsomely, while others lost so badly that they ended up far worse than when they started. This new book looks at fifty legal disputes from Victorian times to the present day, where a compelling moral or legal issue was at stake, or where the background to the case was interesting, amusing or infuriating. It begins with three Victorian murders, including the law student favourite of R v Dudley and Stephens, the case of shipwrecked sailors eating the cabin boy and later facing trial for his murder. It then covers cases ranging from the early days of Hollywood and both world wars, through to modern day battles over superinjunctions, MPs' expenses, the vexed relationship between religion and law, and the sometimes hazy relationship of law and sport. Written in a clear, accessible style, free of legal technicalities, the book will be of interest not simply to lawyers but to anyone interested in stories of great human interest and how the legal system tried to deal with them.

James Wilson graduated BA/LLB (Hons) with a Senior Prize in Law. He practised in both New Zealand and London, primarily in commercial litigation, before joining LexisNexis. He has written a number of articles for legal journals and websites, including the New Law Journal and Criminal Law & Justice Weekly.
