MAJOR NEW TITLES THIS MONTH

Armstrong, Sarah and McAra, Lesley, Perspectives on Punishment: the Contours of Control, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £19.99, ISBN: 0199278776

This book takes a multi-disciplinary approach to the subject of penal policy and criminology. It includes a mixture of both empirical research and theoretical perspectives with comparative analysis and international coverage.

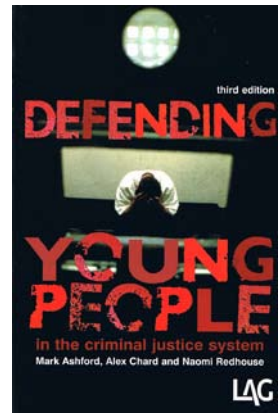

Arnult, Anthony and

Dashwood, Alan, Wyatt & Dashwood: European Union Law 5ed, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £29.95, ISBN: 0421925604

The ideal text for general European courses at undergraduate level, it also serves as a reference work for legal practitioners on points of principle. It presents detailed commentary on, and analysis of, the European Union and its substantive law. It covers the constitutional structure of the EU, examining the functioning of the institutions, the jurisdiction of the European Court of Justice, and the nature of the European legal order. It provides detailed coverage of the free movement of goods, persons and services, competition law, and state aids.

Ashford, Mark and Chard, Alex, Defending Young People in the Criminal Justice System 3ed, Legal Action Group, PB, £48.00, ISBN: 1903307341

This is a comprehensive and practical guide to representing young people in the criminal justice system. It covers practice and procedure at the police station and in the courts where young people appear, and the wider issues such as adolescent development, mental disorder and the care system. It also features comprehensive information about the role of local authorities under the Children Act 1989. It outlines the key aspects of the youth criminal justice system including the role of the Youth Justice Board and the practice and structure of Youth Offending Teams.

Bainbridge, David, Intellectual Property 6ed, Pearson, PB, £38.99, ISBN: 140580159X

dynamic area of the law. Including discussion of all major topic areas of Intellectual Property, this book outlines the current statutory and common law framework of Intellectual Property rights alongside the issues and practical considerations surrounding them. The book contains analytical discussion and exploration of topical issues as the law struggles to cope with the demands of technological developments and European harmonisation. Where relevant, a comparative approach is adopted, outlining key international and regional legislation and judicial decisions. Diagrams and tables are included to aid students' understanding in this complex, and often conflicting, area of the law.

Bankes, Charles and Had-den, Morven, Law and Practice of UK Merger Control, LexisNexis UK, HB, £225.00, ISBN: 0406979502

This book covers in detail, the rules of UK merger control. These rules have been significantly reformed by the provisions of the Enterprise Act 2002, and this essential work provides a comprehensive, in-depth analysis and description of the new regime. The book covers the various institutions that administer merger control, including the details of the legal definition of a merger, the administrative details of the process of obtaining clearance from the OFT, an analysis of the new test by which mergers are assessed and details of the way in which UK merger control interfaces with EC merger control.

Baum, Andrew; Nunnington, Nick and Mackmin, David, Income Approach to Valuation 5ed, Estates Gazette, PB, £35.00, ISBN: 0728204649

Bell, Andrew C., Employment Law 2ed, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £22.95, ISBN: 0421828900

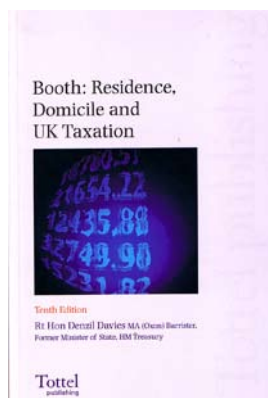

The book provides the reader with a clear, logical and progressive approach to the subject. Like all books in the Textbook Series it sets out a clear framework for the law without sacrificing the detail which is required for a proper understanding of the subject. The primary focus of this text is the individual employment relationship and the associated issues. The work covers such areas as the creation and key terms of the contract of employment, pay, discrimination, termination at common law and unfair dismissal including transfer of undertakings, and the law relating to pregnancy and childbirth.

Berlingieri, Francesco, Berlingieri on the Arrest of Ships 4ed, Informa

Publishing, HB, £295.00, ISBN: 1843115506

Booth, Rachel, Real Estate Investment Trusts: A Global Analysis, Globe Law & Business, HB, £115.00, ISBN: 0954870670

Since they were first developed in the United States, real estate investment trusts (REITs) have become a global phenomenon, offering tax advantages for property companies who choose to convert to REIT status and opening up large-scale real estate investment opportunities to retail investors. This practical title is the only volume to cover REITs and significant property funds in 12 jurisdictions. Written by specialists in this field, each chapter sets out the rules and regulations governing REITs, their tax treatment and how they contrast with other property funds in the jurisdiction. Each chapter adopts the same format for ease of reference, covering key concepts such as tax, investor limitations, distribution requirements, gearing, conversion charge, treatment of offshore investors and related issues.

Burn, E.H. and Cartwright, J., Cheshire and Burn's Modern Law of Real Property 17ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £39.99, ISBN: 0199285330

The seventeenth edition of this classic work on land law has been substantially re-ordered and revised to ensure that it presents the modern law of real property - the land law of the twenty-first century - whilst setting the modern law in the context of its historical foundations. Since the publication of the last edition in 2000, there have been major developments in this area of the law. The Land Registration Act 2002 and the Land Registration Rules 2003 are fully incorporated into the text, together with other legislative changes, such as the Commonhold and Leasehold Reform Act 2002, the Housing Act 2004 and the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, and the numerous proposals of the Law Commission for reform. Developments in the case law are also fully discussed.

Burrows, Andrew, Earlsferry, Lord Rodger of, Mapping the Law: Essays in Memory of Peter Birks, Oxford Univ

Press, HB, £60.00, ISBN: 0199206554

This collection of essays celebrates the life and work of Peter Birks, who was Regius Professor of Civil Law at the University of Oxford, and Fellow of All Souls College. Widely known as one of the most prolific legal scholars for over twenty years, his contribution to English obligations law is legendary. He was Founder of the Clarendon Law Lectures, editor of the Clarendon Law Series, editor of the Oxford English Law Series, and author of several works on the English law of restitution, comparative restitution, and unjust enrichment.

The works in this volume cover the English law of unjust enrichment and restitution, comparative perspectives on unjust enrichment and restitution, Roman law, and legal history, reflecting the range on Peter Birks' work and influence.

Butler, Sean, Discovering the Law, Law Matters Publishing, PB, £12.95, ISBN: 1846410274

Why is law such an exciting and challenging degree to study? This new book explains the law's popularity by giving the reader a clear introduction to each of the main areas studied on a law degree, focusing on subjects rather than systems. Each chapter starts with an overview of the subject, and then particular topics and themes are examined in greater detail to give the reader an understanding of how the different subjects are approached. Discovering the Law will give all those considering or preparing for a law degree a valuable head start.

Cape, Ed, Defending Suspects at Police Stations 5ed, Legal Action Group, PB, £52.00, ISBN: 1903307449

This book includes an updated version of PACE and the full set of PACE Codes, making it the only fully comprehensive guide to advising detainees in police custody. Initial chapters outline the issues behind defending detained clients and examine the principles of PACE and the Codes of Practice. Subsequent pages tackle the various stages of representing a client including interview techniques, samples and searches and identification procedures. A wealth of advice is given on representing vulnerable clients and handling complaints against the police together with a helpful discussion of practical points, tactical tips and ethical issues. Boxed summaries ensure that vital information can be seen at a glance.

CCH Tax Statutes and Statutory Instruments vols I (Red) & II (Green)

Set, Wolters KluwerUK, PB, £139.95, ISBN: 1841407747

CCH Tax Statutes and Statutory Instruments vols I (Red) only, Wolters KluwerUK, PB, £79.95, ISBN: 1841407739

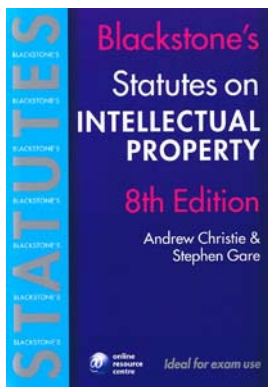

CCH Tax Statutes and Statutory Instruments vols II (Green) only, Wolters KluwerUK, PB, £74.95, ISBN: 1841407720

Chalmers, James and Leverick, Fiona, Criminal Defences and Pleas in Bar of Trial, W. Green, HB, £150.00, ISBN: 0414015215

This vitally important new title provides criminal practitioners and others involved in Scots criminal law with an in-depth narrative guide to the law of criminal defences in Scotland. The comprehensive coverage considers defences in the widest sense, examining not only those which form part of substantive criminal law but also procedural matters such as pleas in bar of trial, abuse of process, delay, entrapment and prejudicial publicity.

Christie, Andrew and Gare, Stephen, Blackstone's Statutes on Intellectual Property 8ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £17.99, ISBN: 0199288267

Designed specifically for students, Blackstone's

Statutes lead the market in providing a carefully selected, regularly updated, and well sourced collection of legislation for the core subjects and major options offered on the law syllabus.

Clark, Wayne, Fisher and Lightwood's Law of Mortgage 12ed, LexisNexis UK, HB, £219.00, ISBN: 1405710063

The twelfth edition of this leading text on the law of mortgages gives the practitioner a detailed and significant insight into this area. The book is fully updated to cover all pertinent topics from transferring mortgages to a mortgagee's remedies. The authors have set all of this in the context of the changing climate of financial law.

Clarkson, C.M.V. and Hill, Jonathan, Conflict of Laws 3ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £29.99, ISBN: 0199289131

The area of conflict of laws has undergone a pro-

found change in recent decades. Much of the subject is now dominated by international conventions and legislation, rather than by case law. In practical terms, issues relating to jurisdiction and the recognition and enforcement of judgments have taken centre stage and choice of law questions have become of more secondary importance. These changing emphases in private international law are fully reflected in this book.

Collins, Mr Justice Lawrence, et al, Dicey, Morris & Collins on the Conflict of Laws 14ed, Sweet & Maxwell, HB, £349.00, ISBN: 042188360X
First published in 1896,

Dicey, Morris & Collins on the Conflict of Laws is renowned worldwide as the foremost authority on private international law. It explains the rules, principles and practice which determine how the law of England and Wales relates to other legal systems. Explanation of each rule is followed by comment, and illustration by detailed reference to case law, ensuring it remains an in-depth but accessible research tool. It provides definitive reference for all practitioners concerned with issues such as contracts made or performed in other jurisdictions or with foreign parties, property situated overseas, disputes relating to torts committed abroad or committed by foreign parties, and personal and family matters involving people in other jurisdictions.

Cooke, Elizabeth, Land Law, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £18.99, ISBN: 0199268991

This book provides an introduction to land law which is accessible, yet challenging and thought provoking. Written by a leading academic in the field, it covers the core areas of modern land law giving readers an authoritative and comprehensive overview of the whole subject. Central to the book is the Land Registration Act 2002, and its far reaching influences are fully explored.

Crawford, Elizabeth and Caruthers, Janeen, International Private Law in Scotland 2ed, W. Green, PB, £38.00, ISBN: 0414016084

A concise guide to the theory and rules of Scots conflict of laws in major areas of private law. This title acts as an ideal ready reference book for practitioners called upon to advise clients on a variety of subjects.

Davies, Denzil, Booth: Residence, Domicile and UK Taxation 10ed, Tottel Publishing, PB, £95.00, ISBN: 1845922476

Davis, Michael E. and Akenhead, Robert, Technology and Construction Court: Practice and Procedure, Oxford Univ Press, HB, £125.00, ISBN: 0199280045

The Technology and Construction Court is one of the specialist jurisdictions of the High Court. It deals with a specialised workload involving construction industry and engineering disputes and, increasingly, information technology disputes. Its work often involves heavy factual cases, but also action in support of other dispute resolution methods such as arbitration, mediation, or adjudication under the Housing Grants, Construction, and Regeneration Act 1996. Technology and Construction Court: Practice and Procedure provides a unique and authoritative guide to this jurisdiction. It examines the day-to-day workings of the Court in detail, including: the relevant Civil Procedure Rules, the Pre-Action Protocol procedure, case management, alternative dispute resolution, the Court's support for arbitration, the stages in proceedings leading up to trial, the enforcement of adjudicators' decisions and costs.

Dembour, Marie-Benedicte, Who Believes in Human Rights? Reflections on the European Convention, Cambridge

Univ Press, PB, £29.99, ISBN: 0521683076

Many people believe passionately in human rights. Others - Bentham, Marx, cultural relativists and some feminists amongst them - dismiss the concept of human rights as practically and conceptually inadequate. This book reviews these classical critiques and shows how their insights are reflected in the case law of the European Court of Human Rights. At one level an original, accessible and insightful legal commentary on the European Convention, this book is also a groundbreaking work of theory which challenges human rights orthodoxy. Its novel identification of four human rights schools proposes that we alternatively conceive of these rights as given (natural school), agreed upon (deliberative school), fought for (protest school) and talked about (discourse school). Which of these concepts we adopt is determined by particular ways in which we believe, or do not believe, in human rights.

Dickinson, Andrew; Baggallay, Roger and McBain, Graham, Butterworths International Commercial Litigation Handbook 2ed, LexisNexis UK, PB, £118.00, ISBN: 1405718366

This book brings together in a single volume key UK, EC and international materials which are essential for litigation and arbitration lawyers, as well as criminal and commercial lawyers generally. This new edition is fully updated and expanded to include ADR and mediation materials. It also includes the text of the Brussels and Lugano Conventions on Jurisdiction and the Enforcement of Judgments in Civil and Commercial Matters and the Rome Convention on the Law Applicable to Contractual Obligations, together with their interpretative reports. In addition, Tables summarising the ratification, and entry into force of these Conventions are also included. The handbook contains UK statutes and statutory instruments on arbitration and the texts of the 1927 Geneva and 1958 New York Conventions on Arbitral Awards.

Fenwick, Helen and Phillipson, Gavin, Media Freedom under the Human Rights Act, Oxford

Univ Press, PB, £31.99, ISBN: 0406942897

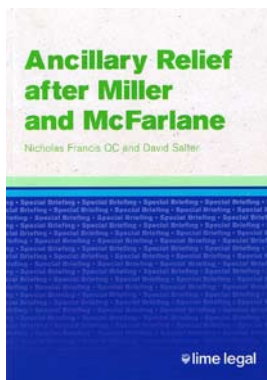

This book provides the most comprehensive analysis to date of the impact of Article 10 ECHR, as received through the Human Rights Act 1998, on the substantive law governing freedom of expression in the media. Fully up to date, the book provides extensive coverage of crucial recent developments in this field.

Foster, Nigel, Blackstone's EC Legislation 2006-2007 17ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £14.99, ISBN: 0199288186

Designed specifically for students, Blackstone's Statutes lead the market in providing a carefully selected, regularly updated, and well sourced collection of legislation for the core subjects and major options offered on the law syllabus.

Francis, Nicholas and Salter, David, Ancillary Relief after Miller and McFarlane, Lime Legal, PB, £35.00, ISBN: 095528340X

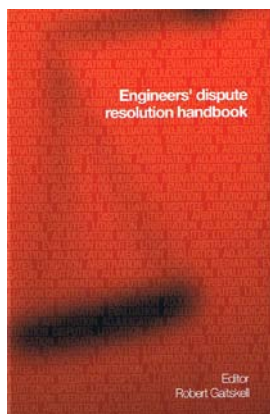

Few appeals have been so eagerly awaited by matrimonial lawyers as those heard by the House of Lords in the cases of Miller v Miller and McFarlane v McFarlane. Embracing issues as diverse as the significance of short marriages, the relevance and nature of conduct in determining ancillary relief claims, the division of income and the practicality of clean breaks, the two cases can truly be described as landmark. In this Special Briefing David Salter, partner at Addleshaw Goddard, and Nicholas Francis QC, of 29 Bedford Row Chambers, have combined to provide a timely commentary on the cases. Setting them in the context of preceding ancillary relief law, the authors analyse the judgments in detail and explain their significance for ongoing and future claims. Including guidance for future practice and the full text of the judgment, this book is essential reading for all matrimonial lawyers.

Gaitskell, Robert, Engineers' Dispute Resolution Handbook, Thomas Telford, PB, £35.00, ISBN: 0727734504

This handbook provides up-to-date information on the various forms of dispute resolution which have recently become available and discusses the more established procedures.

It is written by a team of chartered engineers with hands-on experience and practising barristers from one of the UK's top specialist chambers who deal exclusively with engineering and construction disputes in straightforward language, without jargon and without assuming prior knowledge.

Galligan, D.J., Law in Modern Society, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £18.99, ISBN: 0199269785

This addition to the Clarendon Law Series offers a comprehensive account of, and contribution to, the study of law in modern society. Written by a leading academic in the field, this book examines the underlying idea that the legal system is a highly developed social system which has a distinctive character and structure, and which shapes and influences behaviour. This involves firstly, analysing the nature of law as a social formation itself and, secondly, examining the ways in which it interacts with other aspects of society. In the course of the book the work of legal and social theorists is analysed, and the text illustrated and authenticated by drawing on empirical research in the law and society tradition.

Haley, Michal and Mc-

Murty, Lara, Equity and Trusts, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £24.95, ISBN: 0421599200

Trusts is a subject that many at first find difficult, remote and lacking immediate relevance to the real world. The aim of this text is to provide a clear and current picture of the law of trusts, placing the subject where possible into its context. The book is designed specifically for undergraduates and those studying for the Common Professional Examination. To aid understanding, diagrams as well as detailed examples are included within the text. Emphasis is given wherever possible to the practical application of legal principles and to key policy issues which operate to shape the future development of the law.

Handley, Justice Ken, Estoppel by Conduct and Election, Sweet & Maxwell, HB, £165.00, ISBN: 0421912103

This new work provides practitioners and academics with a detailed guide to the doctrine of estoppel. It deals with estoppel by conduct and election, examining both general principles and the particular relationships in which estoppel can arise, such as principal and agent, landlord and tenant, bailor and bailee, licensees of IP and bank and customer, as well as estoppel in different transactions, including insurance, insolvency and company business. A particular feature is its in-depth analysis of case law to show how underlying principles work in practice in the courts. It covers English and Northern Ireland case law and, where appropriate, case law in Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Ireland and Hong Kong.

Hay, David, Words and Phrases Legally Defined: 2006 Supplement to 3ed, LexisNexis UK, PB, £78.00, ISBN: 1405712325

Words and Phrases enables the practitioner to have at all times the precise meaning of a particular word or phrase. Definitions are taken from the Acts of Parliament, Halsbury's Laws of England, leading textbooks and verbatim judgments from all over the Commonwealth. This annual cumulative supplement ensures that the work is always up to date and includes not only full coverage of English cases and statutes but also extracts from Australian, Canadian and New Zealand cases.

Hedley, Steve and Aplin, Tanya, Blackstone's Statutes on IT and E-Commerce 3ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £16.99, ISBN: 0199288291

Designed specifically for students, Blackstone's Statutes lead the market in providing a carefully selected, regularly updated, and well sourced collection of legislation for the core subjects and major options offered on the law syllabus.

Horspool, Margaret and Humphreys, Matthew, European Union Law: Core Text 4ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £19.99, ISBN: 0199287635

This book provides an overview of both the institutions and main areas of substantive law in a concise volume. It gets to the heart of each area, covering the essential points of each topic. It is ideal as a first text for an EU course, for those courses taught over one semester, and for EU courses on the GDL. Its concise nature, focus on key areas, and pedagogical features, such as self-test questions and further reading, also make this a useful revision text. The fourth edition has a new larger format and layout to aid navigation, and includes a new chapter on Environmental Law.

Hudson, Alastair, Law on Financial Derivatives 4ed, Sweet & Maxwell, HB, £185.00, ISBN: 0421903600

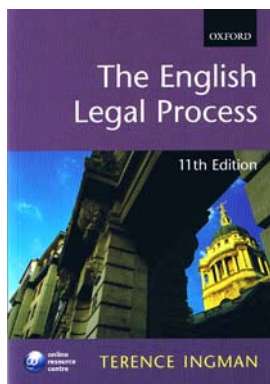

This highly-regarded work provides an in-depth, practitioner's analysis of the legal principles underlying over the counter derivatives. It draws together concepts from many areas of law - including contract, tort and trusts - and explains how they relate to the day-to-day practice of financial derivatives markets. Its clear, readable style ensures it is both an effective guide on basic issues and a source of detailed answers to complex questions. All the key aspects of derivative products are discussed, such as creating and structuring derivatives contracts, performance, security and collateral, set-off and netting, taxation and regulation, as well as issues relating to the conflict of laws. The work also includes appendices dealing with standard market documentation for OTC derivatives, such as the International Swap Dealers Association (ISDA) Master Agreement.

Ingman, Terence, English Legal Process 11ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £24.99, ISBN: 0199290385

Now in its eleventh edition, this book has been thoroughly revised and updated to take into account the recent developments in the English legal process. It provides a clear and topical account of the most important institutions and practices of the English legal system. This new edition builds on strengths of earlier editions, providing a clear and readable explanation of how the English legal system operates. It deals with the organisation and procedures of courts and tribunals, the trial process and jury system, major forms of redress in private and public law, and discusses the way judges make and determine the law. Throughout, examples are drawn from a wide range of cases to help students develop a rounded understanding of the subject.

Jones, Alun; Bowers, Rupert and Lodge, Hugo, Blackstone's Guide to the Terrorism Act 2006, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £34.95, ISBN: 0199208433

In the immediate aftermath of the London bombings on the 7th July 2005, the government announced very quickly that new anti-terror legislation was to be swiftly enacted. The resulting Terrorism Act has been the subject of intense political and legal debate, and creates a number of new terrorist offences. The new Act also and particularly controversially, extends the time during which police may detain suspects without charge. These new offences combined with the recent establishment of a specialist prosecution unit dealing with terrorist prosecutions, means that investigation into terrorist offences is predicted to become intense and controversial, leading to a far greater number of prosecutions. Similarly, the aggressive use of investigative powers is expected to lead to challenge in the High Court by way of proceedings for judicial review, and there may be challenges to the legality of certain provisions in the higher domestic Courts and in the European Court of Human Rights. This new Blackstone's Guide offers comprehensive coverage on the new Act, whilst also placing it in the context of what has gone before, namely; The Terrorism Act 2000; The Anti-Terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001; The Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000; the Prevention of Terrorism Act 2005; and the Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005. This body of anti-terror legislation is dealt with in logical order, tracing the criminal process through investigation and arrest right through to prosecution and appeal. At each stage the legislation is discussed with reference to Hansard, the common law, authority in UK and abroad in relation to principles of jurisdiction, human rights, the rules of evidence, and other criminal justice statutes.

Judicial Studies Board, Guidelines for the Assessment of General Damages in Personal Injury Cases 8ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £20.95, ISBN: 0199207577

The first edition of this title was regarded as a landmark publication in personal injury practice. Each succeeding edition has built on this reputation and the book has now firmly established itself as essential reading for all those involved in the area of personal injury. The Guidelines are designed to provide a clear and logical framework for the assessment of general damages while leaving the discretion of the assessor unfettered, since every case must depend to a degree on its own facts. They provide an invaluable guide to all those involved in personal injury litigation: solicitors, barristers, insurance companies, trade unions, and medical defence organizations. As with previous editions, all judges involved in hearing personal injury cases will automatically receive a copy of the book. This eighth edition has been fully updated to take account of inflation and decisions made in the two years since the previous edition. The figures will be increased to take into account the RPI increases since the last edition and further altered to reflect decisions of the higher courts on quantum, including the current position on pleural plaques.

Kapoor, Shaman, Age Discrimination: A Guide to the New Law, Law Society, PB, £34.95, ISBN: 1853285145

The new age discrimination regulations come into force on 1st October 2006. This timely resource provides an excellent guide to the new law and how it will be applied in practice. The regulations aim to eliminate discrimination on the grounds of age at all stages of employment, from application through to termination and retirement. There are, however, exceptions which the authors explore in detail. Thorough, practical and user-friendly, the book features: a logical layout, providing a step-by-step guide to the implications of the regulations at each stage of the employment process; pertinent examples to illustrate specific points; and clear language to explain complex provisions.

Kessler, James, Taxation of Foreign Domiciliaries 2006/07 5ed, Key Haven, HB, £125.00, ISBN: 9781901614299
The most thorough analysis ever written on the taxation of individuals resident but not domiciled in the UK. It deals clearly with the basic rules as well as full discussion of contentious issues and tax planning.

Lang, Beverley, Administrative Court: Practice and Procedure, Sweet & Maxwell, HB, £175.00, ISBN: 042190500X Administrative Court: Practice and Procedure is a detailed practice manual that gives practitioners dealing with the Administrative Court access to highly authoritative guidance on the procedures involved in bringing a case before the court. Written by authors with unparalleled experience and authority in this field, it provides the assurance that procedures will be followed correctly, identifies areas where problems can occur, and supplies a wealth of practical tools to ensure smooth running of cases

Lee, Natalie, Revenue Law: Principles and Practice 24ed, Tottel Publishing, PB, £66.95, ISBN: 1845922484
Now in its 24th edition, this highly respected work is a leading textbook for students and an invaluable first point of reference for practitioners. This latest edition has been restructured to aid access to information and improve its overall practicality for the user. Its impressive list of contributors provides a clear and detailed explanation of the law, with a wealth of practical examples. It is fully revised and updated to Finance Act 2006, covering the latest case law and developments in practice.

Loveland, Ian, Constitutional Law, Administrative Law, and Human Rights: A Critical Introduction 4ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £28.99, ISBN: 0199290415

The fourth edition of this book covers all of the core elements of both the Constitutional and Administrative Law syllabi, making it an ideal text for use on the LLB or CPE. It also includes substantial coverage of human rights issues. Written in an accessible and engaging narrative style, the book draws heavily from the political science, historical and comparative dimensions of the subject, thus locating it more firmly in its wider context than other available texts.

Lowry, Alan and Dignam, John, Company Law Core Text 4ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £19.99, ISBN: 0199289360

Aiming to demystify company law for today's student, this concise textbook offers an overview of the subject, covering most undergraduate company law syllabi. It discusses the current debates surrounding company law, including the reviews by the English and Scottish Law Commissions, the consultation papers issued by the Company Law Review Steering Group and the ensuing White Papers and Draft Companies Bill. Particular emphasis is given to corporate governance and the theoretical bases underlying company law.

Mason, Stephen, E-Mail, Networks and the Internet: A Concise Legal Guide 6ed, XPL Publishing, PB, £46.00, ISBN: 1858113733

Networked communications covers a wide range of hardware and software,

and the law relating to their use in the workplace is complex. Stephen Mason's unique guide is admirable in cutting through the legalese with superb examples that explain as well as illustrate. The inclusion of a full range of networked technology ensure it continues to be the leading practical work for the industry.

Matthews, Paul, Jervis on Coroners: 3rd Supp. to 12ed, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £52.00, ISBN: 0421932406

Mayson, Stephen; French, Derek and Ryan, Christopher, Mayson, French & Ryan on Company Law 2006-2007 23ed, Oxford

Univ Press, PB, £32.99, ISBN: 019929027X

This book is firmly established as the most up-to-date and accurate account of company law. Updated annually, it presents this complex and intricate subject with great clarity, providing both the intellectual perspective required by university law students and the practical detail needed for professional studies. The complexities of the law are explained clearly, and areas of uncertainty or controversy are fully addressed in a user-friendly and accessible way. The legislative framework is fleshed out with discussion of provisions relating to the creation, financing and management of companies, as well as their insolvency and winding up. Quotations from important judgments accompany discussions of the substantive case law, providing detailed presentation and analysis.

McGlynn, Clare, Families and the European Union: Law, politics and Pluralism, Cambridge Univ Press, PB, £29.99, ISBN: 0521613353

In the first book to offer a comprehensive analysis of family law in the European Union, McGlynn argues that a traditional concept of 'family' which has many adverse effects - on individuals, on families (in all their diverse forms), and indeed on the economic ambitions of the EU is forming the basis for the little-recognised and under-researched field of EU family law. This book examines three different aspects of family life - childhood, parenthood and partnerships - and critically analyses existing EU law in relation to each. It examines the emerging field of EU family law, providing a highly sceptical account of recent developments and a robust challenge to the arguments in favour of the codification of European civil law, including family law.

Nabarro Nathanson, Tottel's Pensions Law Handbook 7ed, Tottel Publishing, PB, £70.00, ISBN: 1845921763

Now in its seventh edition, this book is the definitive and comprehensive guide to pensions law and practice within the UK. It deals with the duties and responsibilities of key personnel and the law applicable to specific tasks, such as contracting out, early leavers, reconstruction, winding-up and funding & surplus. This new edition takes full account of the major and extensive changes to the pensions law regime introduced by the Pensions Act 2004 and the Finance Act 2004, including: the new pensions regulator replacing OPRA; the Pension Protection Fund (PPF); the removal of the tax advantages for unapproved pension schemes; and the increased flexibility in relation to the treatment of death benefits.

Newburn, Tim and Rock, Paul, Politics of Crime Control: Essays in Honour of David Downes, Oxford Univ Press, HB, £50.00, ISBN: 0199208409

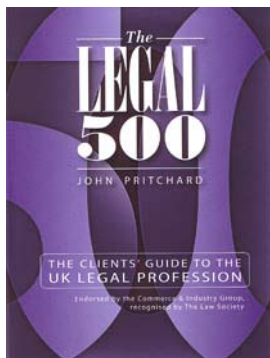

This book brings together

ten leading British criminologists to explore the contemporary politics of crime and its control. The volume is produced in honour of Britain's most important criminological scholar - David Downes of the London School of Economics. The essays are grouped around the three major themes that run through David Downes' work - sociological theory, crime and deviance; comparative penal policy; and, the politics of crime. The third theme also provides the overarching unifying thread for the volume. The contributions are broad ranging and cover such subjects as criminological theory and the new

Robertson, Geoffrey, Crimes Against Humanity 3ed, Penguin, PB, £14.99, ISBN: 0141024631

A revised and updated edition of Geoffrey Robertson's impassioned, authoritative guide to an issue of massive global importance. He tells the dramatic story of how the human rights idea has come to dominate world politics. He reveals how human rights has penetrated the legal armour of the sovereign State. He sets out, without legal jargon, the rights of humankind in the 21st Century. And he predicts what this movement has in store - not only for tyrants and torturers, but also for the superpowers who still resist the demands for universal justice.

Rogers, W.V.H., Winfield & Jolowicz on Tort 17ed, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £32.00, ISBN: 0421922907

The leading textbook on tort available providing students with the definitive and all embracing guidance they need to achieve top marks. The book is centred firmly on English law but also covers significant developments in Commonwealth countries, and where appropriate European systems of tort law. It covers all key areas of tort law so students don't have to refer to a number of different textbooks.

Rose, William, Blackstone's Civil Practice 2006, Oxford Univ Press, HB, £155.00, ISBN: 0199207216

in the county courts and in the High Court. It combines a unique narrative commentary with the full text of the Civil Procedure Rules, Practice Directions and Pre-Action Protocols and Practice Guides. It is the only civil court text to explain and analyse civil procedure in narrative chapters. Written by a team of expert practitioners and academics, the text follows the course of proceedings from funding litigation and commencement of a claim through to enforcement of judgments. The text offers lucid, practical guidance to the effective conduct of litigation - providing detailed guidance on both the general conduct of litigation, and more specialist areas such as judicial review, landlord and tenant and possession proceedings; sale of goods, and consumer credit.

Saul, Ben, Defining 'Terrorism' in International Law, Oxford Univ Press, HB, £60.00, ISBN: 0199295972

Despite numerous efforts since the 1920s, the international community has failed to define or criminalize 'terrorism' in international law. This book first explores the policy reasons for defining and criminalizing terrorism, before proposing the basic elements of an international definition. Terrorism should be defined and criminalized because it seriously undermines fundamental human rights, jeopardizes the State and peaceful politics, and may threaten international peace and security.

Schutter, Olivier De, Transnational Corporations and Human Rights, Hart Publishing, HB, £55.00, ISBN: 1841136530

This volume offers a systematic overview of the different tools through which the human rights accountability of transnational corporations may be improved.

Selwyn, Norman, Selwyn's Law of Employment 14ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £29.99, ISBN: 0199287309

This book now in its fourteenth edition, is the perfect working text for law students at all levels. It is one of the most comprehensive texts available, and covers the whole spectrum of employment law. All chapters have been thoroughly revised, including the latest legislative provisions and with wide coverage of case-law and statutory materials from British and European courts. Legal provisions are explained in a manner which is readable and clear, and it well deserves its reputation as being the most popular textbook in this most complex yet vital area of law.

Shaw's Directory of Courts

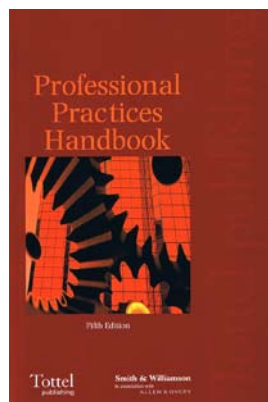

in the UK 2006/07, Shaw & Sons, PB, £46.50, ISBN: 0721916333

Smith & Williamson, Tottel's Professional Practices Handbook 5ed, Tottel Publishing, PB, £68.00, ISBN: 1845922646

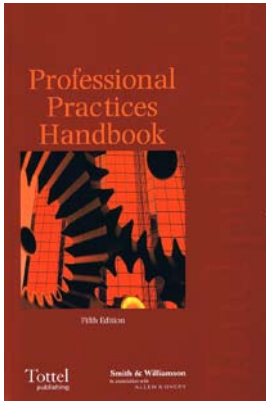

A practical and comprehensive guide for all practitioners who manage or advice a professional practice which covers not only the tax aspects, but also the legal, financial and regulatory issues of all relevant legal structures. The up-to-date and highly specialist coverage includes information on the 2006 budget, the new pensions rules coming into force in April 2006, the impact of the new transfer pricing rules and international tax arrangements, plus the implications of the changes in relation to revenue recognition (FRS 5). It also includes brand-new chapters on information technology and retirement planning.

Smith, A.T.H., Williams: Learning the Law 13ed, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £12.50, ISBN: 0421925507

For more than half a century, this book has been essential reading for every undergraduate law student in the common law world, providing a clear introduction to the methods and skills of the law. It explains the many skills students need to study effectively for a law degree, including case law techniques, interpreting statutes, undertaking legal research, taking part in mooting and mock trials, and preparing for exams. It gives students the skills they need to undertake legal research for their course and carry forward in their future career. It introduces legal problems and describes how best to tackle them. It helps students understand the meaning of statutes and case law, and offers advice on study methods and exam preparation.

Smith, Julia, Consumer Credit Act 2005: A Guide to the New Law, Law Society, PB, £44.95, ISBN: 1853285439

The Consumer Credit Act 2006 marks the final stage of the most significant reform of domestic consumer credit law in almost 30 years. The Act amends the Consumer Credit Act 1974 with the principal aim of improving the regulation of consumer credit and consumer hire businesses, whilst at the same time providing better protection and remedies for the consumer. Legal professionals in the field will find this to be an indispensable guide to the new provisions. It offers a clear explanation of how the new law will affect businesses and includes both a copy of the new Act and the Consumer Credit Act 1974 as amended. The Act, expected to come into force in 2007, aims to protect vulnerable consumers and to create a fairer and more competitive credit market.

Working in the Family Justice System - Hbk of the Family Justice Council 2ed, Jordans, PB, £30.00, ISBN: 0853089965

Anyone involved in, or embarking on, a career within the family justice system knows that it is a complex alliance between several diverse professions - all with different roles to play and procedures to follow. It is therefore vital that those working within family justice understand how each profession thinks and operates. This handbook, approved by the Family Justice Council, cuts through the mystery surrounding family justice to explain how it is organised, what the responsibilities of the respective professionals are and how they interact. Though not a legal text book, it also sets out the important principles of law that underpin the system to provide an accessible guide to newcomers as well as to established professionals who need information about the function of other disciplines.

Walton, Judge, et al, Charlesworth & Percy on Negligence 11ed, Sweet & Maxwell, HB, £275.00, ISBN: 0421954302

The foremost guide to this complex area of the law, this book provides exhaustive reference for practitioners and academics. It offers unrivalled depth of analysis into the torts of negligence and nuisance. Building on the excellence of previous editions, it focuses on the considerable body of new case law that has emerged since the previous edition as well as recent legislative changes. This book is the definitive work on negligence brought fully up-to-date; contains comprehensive analysis of case law with extensive footnotes.

Weir, Tony, Introduction to Tort Law 2ed, Oxford Univ Press, PB, £19.99, ISBN: 0199290377

The second edition this book offers a clear exposition to the rapidly developing law of tort in Britain. For those coming to the subject for the first time it provides a succinct and thoughtful overview - ideal as an introduction to those embarking on the course. It will also be helpful to those engaged in the course or completing it, for it pulls themes together, illustrates important distinctions and provokes reflection on what has already been learnt.

White, James Boyd, Living Speech: Resisting the Empire of Force, Princeton University Press, HB, £18.95, ISBN: 0691125805 literature, politics, and the speech-out-of-silence of Quaker worship--White offers a fascinating analysis of the force of our languages. Reminding us that every moment of speech is an occasion for gaining control of what we say and who we are, he shows us that we must practice the art of resisting the forces of inhumanity built into our habits of speech and thought if we are to become more capable of love and justice.

Rules is important for practitioners and students alike. Allowing readers to do just that, this useful, quick reference book contains the full text of the Civil Procedure Rules, Practice Directions, and Pre-Action Protocols. Affordable, accessible and portable, this handbook is an ideal complement to the larger narrative texts in the area - a simple and effective way to access the rules quickly. The Civil Procedure Handbook 2006 contains all Civil Procedure Rules, Practice Directions, and Pre-Action Protocols approved to 6 April 2006, including the 40th and 41st Updates to the CPR.

Woelke, Andrea, Civil Partnership: Law and Practice, Law Society, PB, £49.95, ISBN: 1853289736

The Civil Partnership Act 2004 provides a framework for establishing a new kind of recognised relationship between same-sex couples with most of the rights, responsibilities and other consequences of marriage. For the first time this will enable couples, gay men and lesbians to have their relationships recognised and to acquire legal and financial rights and protections as civil partners. The Act came into force on 5 December 2005. This comprehensive, practical guide will be invaluable for all practitioners in England and Wales who advise same-sex partners in family, private client and other areas of the law. It outlines all the key areas of the new regime: formation and registration; dissolution; financial consequences; and children and other rights and responsibilities.

Antigua

Special thanks to Clement Bird for arranging clearance of my books and catalogues through customs. This is always a big help in Antigua. Thanks to Clement, I was able to see a lot more people and offer our special Wildy prices and assistance with their libraries. After several trips to Antigua, I finally spent 5 minutes on the beach at Jolly Harbour after meeting a customer there on a Sunday afternoon. Sadly, I had others to get back to and so I had to drag myself away from the sandy beach and blue sky and head back to St. John's.

It was nice to meet up with familiar faces like Faustina Joseph from the Antigua & Barbuda Law Library. This time we met in their nice new building, and I am sure it will not take too long to fill up those empty shelves!

Anguilla

The reason for this journey was to attend the 3rd OECS regional book fair organized this year by Nicole Sylvester, Margaret Mitchell and Kendra Hall, who ensured everything ran along smoothly.

This year's meeting of the OECS saw the departure of Courtney Abel from the role of President. He has stepped down after his successful period as President to allow Nicole Sylvester to step into his shoes as the new President of the OECS Bar Association. Nicole is also the President of the St. Vincent & Grenadines Bar. Congratulations to Nicole on her new appointment.

I would also like to offer congratulations to Stanley Reid on his new position of Governor General. On my last trip we had spent a few evenings enjoying the delights of Anguilla. I would like to thank him for the Governor's reception party which was attended by over 100 members of the bar from all around the Caribbean.

I would also like to thank Courtney Abel for hosting the social outing of a Brunch right by the beach which, as it was the closed season, was totally deserted with all the shades of blue & green sea, blue sky and white sandy beaches.

A difference this year from previous, was that members of bar performed a play on stage about a typical day in court. This was a very funny production with impromptu singing (not Karaoke!). It ranged from Creole singing to operatic and favourites such as Old Man River. This year for the first time I actually went along to the opening of the law year which starts with a church service followed by the procession with a marching band.

Emergency Services: Law and Liability

by John Morrell, Peregrine Hill, Mark Whittaker, et al
Jordan Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 1846610303, £75.00, due October 2006

Emergency Services: Law and Practice is a comprehensive survey of the legal liabilities of the three main emergency services, written by a team of specialists in public authority liability claims. This new work sets out the legal and regulatory framework in which these services operate and the potential liabilities that arise from the performance of their statutory duties. It covers in detail the public liability of each service including liability for the negligent treatment of victims and negligent rescue. It deals with employer's liability in respect of the unique tasks carried out by employees of emergency services. Other issues specific to one or more of the services, such as malfeasance, pensions and disciplinary proceedings, are also covered in detail. The book will be of interest to Lawyers dealing with general common law and public sector claims, risk managers and insurance industry professionals dealing with the public sector.

Offshore Tax Planning, 13th edition

by Giles Clarke
LexisNexis Butterworths, Paperback, ISBN 1405711132, £120.00, due October 2006

This new edition of the respected title features extensive new material and is updated to take into account the Finance Act 2006. It also includes such topics as practical analysis of planning opportunities, thorough analysis of anti-avoidance legislation, extended treatment of non-domiciliaries and an examination of existing offshore structures. Clarke: Offshore Tax Planning is essential reading for accountants, solicitors and financial advisers handling the affairs of private clients and privately-owned businesses. The practical nature of this book makes it an invaluable guide while annual publication ensures it is both up-to-date and relevant.

Taxation of Private Property

by Boodle Hatfield
LexisNexis Butterworths, Softcover, ISBN 0754528006, £105.00, due November 2006

Taxation of Private Property is dedicated to all of the taxation aspects affecting residential property and the family home and is tied-in with a conference. Covering all taxation considerations covering private residential property, this title also fully covers pre-owned assets, which has become one of the key central planks of lifetime tax planning. Also included are sections on more specialist and less frequently covered areas such as heritage property, 'the mansion house' and let property.

Tolley's Tax Planning 2006-07

by Tolley Editorial
LexisNexis Butterworths, Softcover, ISBN 0754528731, £220.00, due November 2006

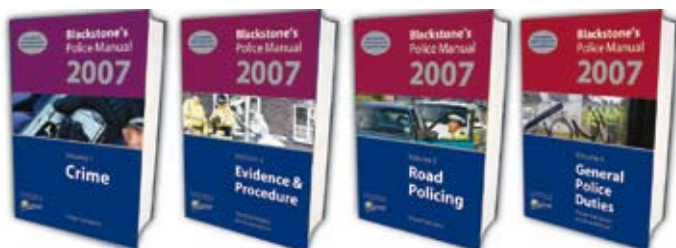

The new edition of this established work is fully up to date and details in a clear and concise format the practical taxation strategies used across the whole range of financial decision-making criteria required by individuals, partnerships and corporate bodies. Composed of two volumes, each chapter being written by a practising expert, it provides an invaluable source of ideas on keeping tax payments to a minimum. Written in straightforward language, with clear explanations and practical solutions, it is an invaluable and essential reference source for all tax practitioners.

CHANCEL REPAIR LIABILITY
How to Research It
Revised ed

Derriman, James

ISBN: 1898029849

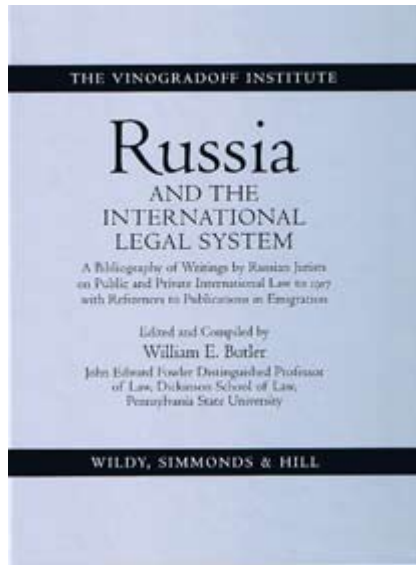

Hardback

Price: £19.95

The owner of any property, however small, in England or Wales, can be liable in certain circumstances to pay for repairs to the chancel of a medieval parish church in his locality. Until a recent case decided in the House of Lords led to a farmer and his wife being called on to pay a £95,000 bill, many property owners, conveyancers and parochial church councils had ignored this apparently remote corner of the law. Now, especially as a result of the Land Registration Act 2002, chancel repair liability has become a live issue.

The need for searches to establish whether any particular land may be affected is increasingly recognised. This book — the first of its kind — provides practical information on how to make these searches. It does not set out to be a legal textbook, but to enable lawyers, laymen and churchmen to understand the background and sources of information available so that they can discover so far as is possible when, and to what extent, liability may exist.

A Foreword by Dr R. Sturt, Diocesan Registrar of Canterbury, endorses its value not only for people who plan to do their own research, but as a mine of information for professionals, parochial church councils and amateur historians

FROM TRUST TO TAKEOVER
Butterworths 1938-1967
A Publishing House in Transition

Gordon Graham

ISBN: 1898029814
Hardback 102pp
£12.95

Stanley Bond, a largely unrecognized publishing genius, instructed in his will that his two infant sons should inherit the company when they attained the age of twenty-five. Until then, the company should be run by a Trust, which he set up, most of the income from which would go to his widow. The sons never got their inheritance. The company was sold twenty-four years after Bond's death. How this came about is a story of intrigue and power plays, in researching which the author had access to confidential archives and was able to interview witnesses of the drama. The result is a tale that throws light on the mores of privately-run companies sliding unwillingly into the era of corporate ownership.

Gordon Graham was Chairman and Chief Executive of Butterworths from 1975 to 1990. Prior to that he had been Managing Director of McGraw-Hill's British subsidiary and International Sales Manager of the McGraw-Hill Book Company, New York.

SEEING JUSTICE DONE

A guide to the Law Courts and Tribunals of Central London

John Griffin

ISBN: 1898029822

Paperback 126pp

£19.95

Seeing Justice Done is aimed at students and overseas lawyers, and at everyone with the time and inclination to visit the Law Courts and Tribunals of Central London as a spectator. The book describes where each of them is to be found, and what goes on inside them. Prominent lawyers explain the difference between barristers and solicitors, and there are eighteen interviews with individuals involved, willingly or unwillingly, in what lawyers call “the administration of justice”, ranging from a High Court Judge to a persistent criminal. The royalties of this book are being donated to the Solicitors Benevolent Association.
